Why Microsoft Sentinel?

Organisations are faced with the difficult task of trying to protect their expanded digital estate from increasing cyber-attacks. With the move to cloud and a remote workforce, there has been a push to border estates beyond the boundary of a physical network. Data, users, and systems are everywhere; however the frequency and sophistication of attacks are ever growing.

Microsoft Sentinel offers a new, modern approach to Security Information and Event Management (SIEM), entirely cloud-native and powered by AI and automation to help optimise security operations. Microsoft Sentinel's cloud-native nature empowers you with the scale, flexibility, and speed of the cloud, while eliminating the time and money spent on managing infrastructure. With Microsoft Sentinel an organisation can:

- Collect data for visibility.
- Detect patterns applying analytics with AI.
- Investigating threats and create incidents.
- Respond with automation and perform remediation.
- Improve their security posture.
